AGAINST TRUSTS.

An Organization Is Formed to Fight Them—President Cleveland Asked to Reconsider the Creation of a "Bureau of Corporate Supervision."

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The Anti-Trust association, organized in Central Music hall last June, met Monday at the Palmer house to consider the by-laws proposed by a committee for its government. Hor. Kuntz Nelson, of Minnesota, chairman of the June convention, opened Monday's session.

Editor Edward Rosewater, of Omaha, was chosen chairman, and R. W. Easley secretary.

The following officers were chosen: President, Francis H. Thirmer, New York; vice-president, E. Rosewater, Nebraska; treasurer, Grace Stewart, Illinois; secretary, R. M. Easley, Illinois; executive committee: C. A. Ray, New York; Henry W. Blair, New Hampshire; J. J. Caldwell, Massachusetts; J. A. Tamm, Minnesota; I. E. Whipple, Michigan; S. R. White, Indiana; J. W. Ady, Kansas.

Committees to formulate national and state laws to break up trusts and combinations, that increase cost of products to consumers, were also appointed. The following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, The Anti-Trust association of the United States organized by authority of the convention composed of delegates appointed by the governors of the several states, constituting three members from each of the states, has this day been fully organized; therefore, be it

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the chairman of this meeting, of which he shall be a member, to respectfully request the president of the United States in behalf of this association, to recommend to his forthcoming annual message to Congress the creation of a bureau of corporate supervision and control to the end that combinations or fraudulent capitalization by corporations engaged in any business conducted within the provisions of the federal constitution relating to interstate commerce may be prohibited. Said bureau to be under the charge of a commissioner clothed with authority similar to that now exercised over national banks by the controller of the currency, and empowered by law to collect statistics relating to the capitalization, liabilities and available assets of all such corporations; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee respectfully request the president to further recommend to the Congress of the United States the passage of suitable laws to prevent the combination of capital or corporate wealth and power for the purpose of limiting production, destroying home competition or controlling the price of raw material or manufactured products."

ANTI-CHINESE BILL.

As Passed in the House 18 More Secured Than the Heavy Act.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The McGraw bill, giving all Chinese in this country six months longer in which to register under the provisions of the act, passed the house Monday afternoon by a vote of 175 to 1. The one vote cast against it was that of Mr. Loom, of California.

The shape and the northeastern congressmen voted for the measure, although they had denounced the bill in the committee terms, and had threatened they would use every parliamentary device to obstruct its passage. The reason for their sudden conversion and support of the bill lies in the fact that the bill, as they voted for it, grants a substantial concession to the Chinese in the shape of the amendment proposed by Congressman Henry, the author of the original bill.

The McGraw amendment provides that every Chinese who goes up to register shall have his photograph attached to his certificate of registration. This provision was originally intended to be inserted in the bill, but it was deemed at that time so harsh that the conferees thought it unwise to make an effort to pass the bill with the photograph clause. The McGraw amendment to the bill makes the McGraw even more rigorous than it already is, so it will be seen that the anti-Chinese representatives from the northeastern states and the shape have received a very good price for their permission to let the bill become a law.

A GOLDEN DOME.

The Congressional Library to Have the First.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The gliding of the dome of the new congressional library building, a stone's throw from the capitol, has progressed far enough to indicate that when completed this golden dome will be one of the most conspicuous and beautiful objects in Washington. There are not many gilded domes in the world. The Hotel des Invalides in Paris, the Connecticut statehouse at Hartford, and the Massachusetts statehouse at Boston are the best known. The dome of the new library building is larger than any of these; two-thirds larger, it is estimated, than the famous dome of the statehouse in Boston.

The building will not be completed for four years. When finished it will have a capacity, according to Librarian Spafford, to accommodate all the books of the world for 100 years to come and still leave seven-eighths of its space.

Murdered Over a Game.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 17.—John Griffith, a young married man, shot and instantly killed James Coleman, aged 29 years, at Lexington. The two men were engaged in a game of cards in an old house, and Griffith became enraged at Coleman and shot him through the heart.

They Start Out Well.

CLARKSBURG, Tenn., Oct. 17.—Haven Cobb, aged 73, and Mrs. Margaret Cobb, aged 67, were married at Big Lick, Stewart county. The pair start out in life with 124 children and grandchildren.

OUTGENTRALED.

A Parliamentary Job Set Up By Teller and Dubois.

The Anti-Slavery Walked Right Into the Trap—A New Constitutional Question Involved—Prospects of the Chinese Extension Bill in the House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The tangle which the senate had found itself in Friday night and which resulted in the adjournment of that body was the outcome of a cleverly laid plot originated by Senator Dubois and executed through the help of Senator Teller.

The silver men knew that on a roll call where pulls would have to be recognized that the repeal members would not be able to obtain a quorum, though on a call of the senate in which pains can be expended a quorum was present. The difficulty then became to obtain a roll call. Senator Teller examined the rules and discovered what proved to be a successful maneuver of bringing about the desired end. It is a rule of the senate that except by unanimous consent no debate on a matter not yet read in that body if it has been previously read, Mr. Teller during a roll for a quorum explained his scheme to Mr. Dubois, who was speaking and a few moments later Mr. Teller from the mass of manuscript that he had on hand read the bill on a roll call and began to read with great deliberation.

Immediately Mr. Teller was on his feet and objected to the reading. He raised a point of order against the reading and after some debate the chairman decided that the bill on an appeal was taken and a roll call ordered. This was what the silver men were looking for and on the roll call it was developed that no quorum was present. It was then that the repeal men stepped into another trap. Mr. Teller tried to force Mr. Dubois to vote, and a long debate ensued. An effort was made to take a vote that the senate should not pass Mr. Dubois from voting and on this roll call another lack of a quorum was developed and the senate was forced to adjourn.

The question now becomes the effort to have Mr. Dubois vote and it is the intention of Mr. Teller to have Mr. Dubois vote.

This, it is stated, will bring out a new constitutional question which will develop a debate which the silver men will last for a month at least, and thus the time of the senate will be given to another question and the time of the senate will be much occupied.

In the house Friday a bill was passed increasing the number of army officers detailed as military instructors of state institutions from seventy-five to one hundred.

Before the debate on the Chinese extension bill was resumed, an agreement was reached by the friends and foes of the measure that the bill would be taken up on Monday at 10 o'clock. In yesterday's debate the east was pitted against the west, irrespective of party lines, the former supporting and the latter assailing the measure.

Mr. Bayner, of Maryland, made a most brilliant speech in support of the bill which he attacked the decision of the supreme court and declared it was almost the unanimous opinion of the American bar that the law was unconstitutional. Mr. Maguire, of California, made a reply on behalf of the Pacific coast. He claimed that the advocates of the bill had shown the floor. They did not want the McGraw act extended; they wanted it nullified by an adverse decision of the supreme court. Mr. Bayner, of California, and Messrs. Draper, Morse and McCall, of Massachusetts, were the other speakers.

LAST DAY OF THE FAIR.

My Excuse to Spectator Anything That Has Preceded It.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The World's Columbian exposition will go out in a blaze of splendor. The board of directors decided Friday to make the last day Columbus day and asserted that the festivities shall be commensurate with the name chosen for the final celebration. The evening will be given a national significance. Many think that the chief magistrate will yield to the solicitations of the managers and attend. It is figured that the closing of the fair is an occasion just as momentous as was the opening, and that the president will be the influence of his presence then he will do so this time.

Whatever the conclusion reached by the president, October 31 will be an event in the history of the fair. Ever since the triumph of Chicago day it has been known that the directors intended to make the last day a day of great occasion before the fair should go into history. The immense crowds that paid admission into the grounds not only on that day, but on the days following, put the members of the governing board in a real panic and they have been working with one another in an effort to conjure up the most fitting plan for this celebration.

Unlucky Accident to a Cincinnati.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—A peculiar accident is reported at the World's fair grounds. While Mr. W. S. Shirk, of Cincinnati, was purchasing a bottle of Waukegan water at one of the numerous stands, the bottle suddenly burst, being overcharged. Mr. Shirk was severely injured in several places, his injuries being of a painful character.

A Train-Wreck Scattered.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—Noah King, the leader of the Stoughton train-wreckers, was Saturday morning sentenced to thirteen years in the state prison. This is the third sentence King has received this week, one of the years for burglarizing the drug store at Stanton, and two years for robbing Webster & Van Cleef's store at the same place. The jury wrangled all night over the case of Joe Silvers, another of the accused wreckers, and finally agreed to discharge him. Mr. Shirk was the driver of the train which was wrecked. He is now in the hospital, his injuries being of a serious character.

Three Tramps Killed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 16.—An incoming train on the Pennsylvania railroad was wrecked Sunday afternoon when it had stepped from the other track to avoid another train. Two were instantly killed and another fatally injured. They were apparently tramps.

Hit by a Bullet While Twirling His Revolver.

ST. ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 16.—James Hensley, well-known young man of this city, was indulging in expert marksmanship Sunday, when the bullet from his revolver struck him in the chest, passing through his heart.

FOR A DIME.

Children Blocking in the Columbus Ex-position Philanthropic Chicagoans See That Poor Children Get a Penny.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Everything is in readiness for the successful inauguration of children's week at the fair Monday. The preparations for the reception of the young folks is complete. Instructions have been issued to all children between the ages of 6 and 15 years are to be admitted to the exposition grounds for ten cents apiece. This special rate lasts all this week, and it is expected that thousands upon thousands of boys and girls will avail themselves of it.

These children whose parents can not afford to send them to Jackson park will not be deterred from seeing the wonders of the White City. The committee which has undertaken to see that they are cared for is meeting with much encouragement and success in providing means for their entertainment, and all of them will be afforded an opportunity of seeing the fair.

From all indications children's week will be a great success. A. H. Revell and the other philanthropic officials who are responsible for the movement, are much gratified at the outcome. School and the school officials are also enthusiastic over the affair, and they are all working together to make the week the grandest success of the whole exposition period.

With the school children taken care of attention is being called to another class of young folk who are deserving of consideration. They are the cash boys and girls in the big downtown stores.

It was a beautiful, clear, warm day for the youngsters. Not only did nature smile at them, but their activity and bright faces caused more than one staid person to stop and beam on them. The little ones were everywhere, up on the Ferris wheel, through the palysees, in the buildings, about the grounds, and the more saving ones, who had stored their pennies for this day, proudly purchased their own tickets for a ride in the gondolas or electric launches. Thousands upon thousands of the little ones swarmed through the gates, and the morning of the public schools were closed for the week and the attendance from them was very large. The parochial schools were also generally closed. The children crowded the streets and the omnibuses and cabs were full of them. There was no crash and no delay in getting them through.

A number of philanthropic citizens and business firms provided special trains and wagon transportation for the pupils of the various schools for the day. Many thousands of tickets were given them by others and the school teachers presented the tickets to their classes. One wholesale baker provided an amount of sandwiches and pies free for the children, so they had about everything they needed to make their day happy without expense. Some of the teachers came in charge of their classes and a great many of the children had the protection of their parents. The school exhibits of the different states and institutions were made central visiting places. The children were shown what other pupils less fortunate than they had accomplished and they told what children in some of the faraway schools they had seen and what kind of schools they had. The ten cent admission rate has been made effective for all children eighteen years of age or under. Those of the higher grades and high schools will be able to put in a full week.

The new liberty bell was rung at noon, the school children and their teachers taking part in the exercises. The plaza around the new building was covered with a throng of youngsters. The exercises were under the direction of Miss Lute Gordon, of Atlanta, Ga. A number of World's fair officials made short addresses to the boys and girls. Then the high school girls sang a song in honor of the memory of the Swiss, and the man who first advanced the theory of common education among the masses. Master Hendricks and Maynard, of New York, tucked in the rope attached to the heavy clapper manfully until the clapper rang throughout the White city. The ringing was also in honor of Israel, founder of the kindergarten system, and Harace Mann, founder of the American common school system.

REAL WAR.

Government Forces Suffer Heavy Losses in Dead and Wounded.

The Bombardment Was Very Descriptive and Many Buildings Were Damaged—Many Foreigners Killed and Wounded—The News Building Wrecked.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16.—Advices have been received that the Brazilian armor-plated cruiser Sete de Setembro, which was bound for Rio to join Admiral Melha's forces, ran ashore near Praia Grande. All of the crew escaped safely, but as soon as they were landed they were made prisoners by the Brazilian forces, which were stationed there.

The further details of the bombardment of Rio have been forwarded.

The government forces suffered heavy losses, but the government is suppressing all reports of casualties. The rebel war ship Aquidauan, Melha's flag ship, opened the bombardment.

There was a contest for the possession of the government work shops of Araruama between the revolutionary forces and those of the government. When Melha recalled that he could not obtain possession of them peacefully he prepared to open fire.

The bombardment was very destructive. Many buildings were badly damaged. Residents of the city fled in terror. Several of the shells from the insurgent struck the heart of the city, killing many inhabitants.

A shell from the Trajano fell in the center of the city. The buildings occupied by the Rio News and the American Bible society were wrecked. Many foreigners were killed and wounded. Among the buildings which suffered greatly from the bombardment were the police barracks, which were situated near the custom-house.

The government forces numbered 2,000 and repelled vigorously to the Rio from the fleet. The land batteries had a few shells fired, but they were not effective, all of the shots falling short. None of the ships were injured.

The insurgents' fleet also bombarded the city. Domingos, Igarahy and Santa Rita, all of Rio. The shells on all of them were destructive to property.

It is also known there was great loss of life. Advices have also been received of a sharp engagement between a detachment of the revolutionary forces and government troops near Ponta da Caju.

The rebels were short of coal for their ships and sent a detachment to capture a supply which they knew was at that point. Then the land forces waited until they got within range and opened fire. The contest lasted but a short time, when the land batteries were silenced. The naval detachment then captured the coal. Owing to English interests involved, complaint was made of the attack to British Minister Wyndham in Rio.

It is detailed Capt. Long to make an investigation. After close inquiry he reported that there had been heavy losses and that several government troops had been killed in the engagement.

Bayton, the American, who was captured by the English warship, is attempting to blow up the Aquidauan, by leaving that the government paid him $10,000 for making the attempt.

KEEPS SWINGING.

A Woman Who May Be Called the Human Pendulum.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 16.—Miss Emma Hennessey, a well-known musician of this city, is suffering from a mysterious affliction that completely paralyzes the local physicians. For eight weeks Miss Hennessey has been confined to bed with her head severely strapped to the wall. Her condition is such that she is unable to move her head and her body is completely paralyzed. She is unable to speak and her body is completely paralyzed. She is unable to move her head and her body is completely paralyzed. She is unable to speak and her body is completely paralyzed.

Two months ago, while preparing her toilet, Miss Hennessey heard a sharp snap at the back of her neck, resembling in sound the breaking of a stout cord. This was followed by an excruciating pain rising in the heart and reaching to the brain. Since then her head, at every heart-beat, has moved violently backward and forward with the regularity of a pendulum, the movements being about twelve inches out of the perpendicular. A strong strap is now required to prevent this involuntary movement of her head. Her general health is not impaired.

NARROWLY ESCAPED.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 16.—W. McKie, a member of the Mississippi legislature from Marshall county, surrendered to the sheriff at Holly Springs Sunday to escape the wrath of a mob of colored men bent on lynching him. McKie shot and fatally wounded John Dean, a colored employe on his plantation, in a difficulty Saturday. The shooting occurred because the blacks in the vicinity that they made a desperate attempt to hang McKie, but he escaped, made his way to Holly Springs, and is now in jail.

OUTRAGEOUS.

A Scheme to Prejudice Pensioners.

Special from Washington of the 6th inst. says: An investigation of the suspended cases in the Pension Department discloses a gigantic plot on the part of Republican politicians and the former Republican Pension Board, which is far from complimentary to those engaged in it.

After the election last November, it is alleged, word was passed around to the Republican Examining Boards to rate every applicant for pension just as low as possible, and to make unfavorable reports in as many cases as possible, so that when the claims came to be passed on under the incoming Democratic Administration the claims could not be attached to it, and it did appear as though the Democratic pension officials were opposed to the soldier and not in favor of granting pensions.

The most evil effects of this systematic conspiracy appear in cases where the claimant had already been granted a pension and had applied for an increase, and was ordered before the November election and prior to the appointment of new Democratic boards. In many of such cases the boards reported no disability whatever, so that when the claims came to be passed upon in the Pension Office it appeared that instead of the claimant being entitled to an increase he was not entitled to any pension at all, and was therefore suspended. This shows to what extent Republican officials will go, and how far they will prostitute their offices if they can gain a vote for their party. Many of the boards were not changed before July 1, and they continued their practice up to the very hour of their going out of office. But the worst thing of all has been underhanded methods by the Republican politicians in Ohio and elsewhere, by which they have filed charges and affidavits against their neighbors in having them suspended, in order that a sentiment might be created against the Democratic party. These cases are being investigated rapidly, and nothing of the sort will be tolerated by the Pension Bureau, and the men who have been suspended are being placed back upon the rolls as rapidly as possible.

No soldier need have any fear that injustice will be done him by the administration, the efforts of the Republican politicians and former Republican boards to the contrary notwithstanding. The matter is now under investigation, and will soon be brought to light.

The fifty musicians composing the Chicago band have been dismissed from the employment of the World's Fair authorities for refusing to play in conjunction with the Cincinnati band. The Chicago Musical Society, a trades union organization, one of the rules of which prohibits its members from playing with outside musicians. The rules apply to visiting bands only when the visitors accept a six months' engagement, as in the present case. Adolph Liebsang, leader of the Chicago band, said the Cincinnati band was engaged for the World's Fair by Theodore Thomas with the express understanding that its members would join the Chicago Musical Society. This, after much temporizing, they had at last refused to do.

The World's Fair.

What a week! Beginning with Sunday, whose attendance exceeded that of any previous Sunday followed by Chicago day with 716,000 paid admissions, Tuesday and Wednesday with 393,000 each and the rest of the week in the same strain! There's a record for you—the exposition out of debt and attendance way up in the clouds. Chicago set out to beat the best Paris record—397,000—and almost doubled it. And when the difference in prices of admission—20 cents at Paris and 50 cents at Chicago—is considered the feat is positively startling. Never was there such a gathering of people in limited space; never was there such a stupendous outpouring since the beginning of time. It was the sight of a century, yes a decade of centuries, and in all probability will never be duplicated.

Few accidents marred the day, though there was much discomfort. It could not be otherwise. For all that the crowd was a jolly one and despite the enforced limitations of space hilarity reigned supreme.

As nearly as possible the program laid out beforehand was carried through though the multitude seriously interfered with the night parade of floats. In the evening the air and water were alive with fireworks and gondolas and electric lanterns looked their prettiest bedecked with Chinese lanterns.

Transportation to and from the park was attended by numerous difficulties. At every railroad and steamboat station there was for hours in the early part of the day a terrific jam, repeated at the exposition entrances and again seen at the close of the celebration. But so well were the crowds handled that at 12 o'clock midnight the grounds were deserted.

Sixty-six children, ranging from 3 years up, were lost by parents and remained at the grounds all night in charge of the authorities. Two days elapsed before all were restored to their homes.

The total attendance, including passes, was slightly in excess of 756,000.

The flood did not end Monday. Tuesday there were 208,775. And so the record ran.

New York City is bound to have a big day Oct. 31, if we may judge from preparatory work. Already 50,000 souvenir tickets have been issued. New Yorkers are taking great interest in the celebration and will come in droves. Round trip railroad rates have been placed at $15.

Supt. Singer of the lost and found department says that the following articles were found in Jackson park Chicago day and deposited in his office: Fifteen pocket-books with money; fifteen umbrellas; ten women's wraps; five overcoats; ten pairs of spectacles; five suitcases; ten women's shopping bags; five railroad tickets; and enough old gloves to sink an electric launch. He estimates that these are about one-tenth of the articles lost in the park that day. He has had already 2,000 applications, and about one in ten found what he was looking for.

Mr. Singer says he has had, first and last, about 2,500 articles in his possession still. The most worthless thing brought him is a worn-out 10-cent fan, but he is the custodian of diamonds also. Sometimes the owner leaves a reward for the finder, but this is rare. The largest reward ever paid was $5, paid by a New York man for the recovery of a diamond pin. The wife of a United States senator lost two diamond rings worth $500 and got them back and did not offer one cent reward nor care to inquire who found them.

Mr. Singer says that 99 per cent. of the people who lose things in the park are women.

The fifty musicians composing the Chicago band have been dismissed from the employment of the World's Fair authorities for refusing to play in conjunction with the Cincinnati band. The Chicago Musical Society, a trades union organization, one of the rules of which prohibits its members from playing with outside musicians. The rules apply to visiting bands only when the visitors accept a six months' engagement, as in the present case. Adolph Liebsang, leader of the Chicago band, said the Cincinnati band was engaged for the World's Fair by Theodore Thomas with the express understanding that its members would join the Chicago Musical Society. This, after much temporizing, they had at last refused to do.

When the various state buildings were erected at the north end of the fair grounds the question of salvage cut but little figure in the plans of the state commissions. Most of the commissions were then flush of money. The end of the season finds most of the state appropriations exhausted, and several of the commissions are hoping for salvage in the demolition of the buildings to make ends meet. Most of them will be disappointed. The buildings of a purely temporary character will be torn down at a loss to their owners. Those that can be moved have been on the market for some time, but bidders are few. The raising of the Illinois Central tracks in front of Jackson park forms a blockade to house moving except north or south of the park.

There is but one state building in the entire list of about two score that is eagerly sought by bidders, and that is Idaho's unique log house, at the extreme north end of the grounds. The building has not yet been sold, but Capt. Wells, the Idaho commissioner, has at least half a dozen offers, ranging from $5,000 upwards.

The probable revenue from gate receipts after Nov. 1, has not been estimated. That the fair will be open for a few days after a fashion has never been denied, nor has it been questioned for a moment that the work of destruction will begin at once. Visitors will be allowed to come in after Nov. 1 just as they were before the opening on May 1, but they will not see the exposition in a perfect state. They will see thousands of busy workmen taking down pictures, packing statuary, removing rare pottery from show cases and tearing down pavilions that a few days before were jammed with displays. They will see the fair as it was late in April, not as it appeared on Chicago day.

"The exposition will run several weeks in spite of itself," said President Higginbotham. "We could not bring it to a sudden close if we wanted to, without offending thousands of visitors who have not seen enough of it, but the gates be formally closed on Oct. 31."

Chicago's schools close Monday, October 16, for one week, in order to give pupils an opportunity to see the exposition glories.

The western railroads will bring people in from now on at one cent a mile each way, tickets good on any train. If this rate had held from the beginning the fair would have been seen by millions who will now be content with hearsay.

Here and There.

We have been blessed with some good rains lately, the trenches are running and the springs and wells are all filled up.

We are also glad to say that we do not know of any sickness in the neighborhood, but am sorry that we cannot announce any marriages. Sorghum mills have been busy both day and night, and if the frost keeps off a few days longer the "sop" will all be made.

Seed time is over for the season and there is a large acreage of wheat sown in this section.

Hogs are very scarce, and the farmers are offering fabulous prices for hogs to fatten this fall, but they cannot be found at any price.

The Rev. Daniel Higgins preached at Glenwood last Sunday evening and at Palestine at night. He will preach here again the second Sunday in next month at 10:30 o'clock.

Mr. Alfred Bolt, of Bolta Fork, was here to-day taking orders for tombstones.

Mr. J. Q. Adams a popular man of Spring creek, was here to-day on some special business, last known to himself.

Mrs. Dora Barrett, our teacher, is making preparations for a large exhibition the last day of her school, which will be in about two weeks.

Wesley Wadd, wife and daughter Fannie, started this morning for the World's Fair. They will likely be absent about two weeks.

In spite of the hard times, we no notice several new buildings in course of erection all over the country.

Calvin Holbrook, who has lingered with dropsy for over a year and one day last week, aged 63 years. He was buried by Masonic orders. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Isaac Famin.

Some one has figured out that there is now in circulation, twenty-four dollars and two cents to every man, woman and child. We believe this is a mistake, or either our share has failed to come to hand.

John Holbrook, on receipt of a telegram, has just arrived from Wash., that his father was laying at the point of death, but he did not get here until the day after his father was buried.

Since the commencement of this letter, we learn that Mr. G. W. Adams, and Miss Rebecca Holbrook have each a severe attack of typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Twinam and son Billy, of Mavity, Boyd county, was here Tuesday attending the funeral of Mr. Holbrook.

We are sorry to say that we can't get the News for four days after it is printed—all on the account of the mail not coming here on Saturdays, in place of Mondays. But better late than never.

Doctor Sparks, of Vessie, was here Saturday telling some good jokes, one of which was about being caught in a wreck on a railroad out West, which was quite amusing to the boys. Doc is a jovial good fellow, and is ever ready to joku with the boys.

Billy Menix, our weather prophet, prophesied that the ground would be froze hard enough this morning to bear up a horse, but we are glad that Billy's prophecy failed.

Walter Queen's little boy, Curtis, was taken violently ill yesterday with some kind of fever. Dr. Sparks being here at the time, was called in and administered to the little fellow, but he is no better this morning.

Kirk Queen and John Holbrook came to Glenwood Saturday to do some trading at the store. Their aggregate weight was four hundred and thirteen pounds. RAMBLER.

Perhaps some of our readers would like to know in what respect Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better than any other. We will tell you. When this remedy is taken as soon as a cold has been contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it will counteract the effect of the cold and greatly lessen its severity, and it is the only remedy that will do this. It acts in perfect harmony with nature and aids nature in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions, breaking the mucus and causing its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs and restoring the system to a strong and healthy condition. No other remedy in the market possesses these remarkable properties. No other will cure a cold so quickly. For sale by A. M. Hughes, L. Osa, Ky.

"During my term of service in the army I contracted chronic diarrhea," says A. E. Boulton, of Halsey, Oregon.

"Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found my that would give me relief, they would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow." For sale by A. M. Hughes, Louisville, Ky.

An exchange says: A certain farmer claiming that he was unable to spend one dollar and a half for a year's subscription to his home paper, sent that amount to a down-east Yankee for a receipt to stop a horse from shoddering—he got it, and here it is. "Teach your horse to shod."

The State of Kentucky is overwhelmingly for the repeal of the Sherman act. Joe Blackburn is against it. Wm. Lindsay is representing the people by favoring the repeal.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a specific for croup. It is very pleasant to take, which is one of the most important requisites where a cough remedy is intended for use among children. I have known of cases of croup where I know the life of a little one was saved by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." J. J. Ladrange, drugist Ayres, Neb. 60 cent bottles for sale by A. M. BIG SANDY NEWS.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1894.

Senator Blackburn's Position.

Standing with reluctant feet, Where the gold and silver meet, Joseph Blackburn, U. S. S., Hides proudly to confess That to save his life he can't say we shall or say we shan't. Have good money. Therefore, hence, Joseph climbs upon the fence; And he waits there, day by day, For the cat to jump some way; Some may envy, some may swear, Joe, the suave and debonair, Seeks to hide, by trick or law, From those who're not for Joe, It is a latecraft Machiavel. Never showed up quite so well, And they say that Mac knew how best to milk the public cow So to fill his empty pail. While one party, at her tail, Pulled and hauled, and at her head Tether dragged. It may be said, Never did true diplomat designate where he was at; Hence when Joseph, from the fence, Pours out floods of eloquence, Let us listen, soul-entranced, To the arguments advanced, Knowing that, although we saw, Into reek of words and glare, At the final end of it, Joe'll be back again, he'll sit Standing with reluctant feet Where the gold and silver meet. —New York Sun.

FALSE REPORTS.

Election Lies in Circulation.

It seems that campaigns are now considered incomplete without the circulation of a big lot of falsehoods, and the present one is no exception. Some of the most absurd lies are set a-going with the hope that they will reach voters who will not hear the truth, which travels so much more slowly than its enemy—falsehood.

The Republicans have slyly reported through the country that a great number of Louisiana Democrats will vote for some of the Republican nominees. Such a thing was never more improbable than it is this year. With the possible exception of a very few cases where relationship may be headed, we can state positively that the prospects were never better for a straight party vote. We have investigated the matter since the report reached us and find that the Democrats of Louisiana will do their duty toward the whole ticket.

Mr. Stuart seems to have been singled out as the particular object of these reports. It is always so in the case of the strongest man, for the opposition feels that "something has got to be done." What we stated above applies particularly to Stuart. Why the one should be otherwise it is impossible to see. He is a man in every sense of the word, and is the peer of any man in the county in point of qualification for the position he seeks. He has had experience in various schools and several districts of this and other counties, which is certainly a very great necessity to a Superintendent, as it shows him the needs which he will be called upon to deal with. Without this variety of experience a man is not competent to decide many matters which will come before him. Mr. Stuart's superior ability and fitness cannot be denied.

Fellow Democrats of the country, close your ears to all unfavorable reports of our standard bearer this year. Nothing objectionable can be truthfully said of any of them. These reports are traps set to catch you. Keep your eyes open and don't walk into any traps. Every hint of the unpopularity of Louisiana Democrats should promptly be set down as a lie of whole cloth. Go to the polls and place just one X on your ballot right where the rooster roosts, and all will be well. You will be glad you did it.

A Serious Accident.

Last week our friend John Murray got into a jock of trouble on Little Point creek, Johnson Co. He was on his way from Prosserburg to Paintsville, in the mail hack, having sent his sample trunks with clothing on ahead, in a spring wagon. In crossing Paint, just above East Point, the horses, wagon and sample trunks and men all went down in a deep hole, nothing having been lost or damaged, except the clothing samples, which got soaking wet. Instead of waiting and waiting the people in the mail hack, the driver, after getting his wagon out, went on. When the mail hack came along it too, got a ducking, resulting in the drowning of one mule, and a ducking of all the passengers, including Mr. Murray. The lady passenger floated down the creek until she came to an overhanging tree, to which she clung until assistance arrived. Four trunks and one mail pouch were discovered the next day after the water fell. One mail pouch has not yet been found.

Married.

According to the announcement last week, Mr. John Critcher, of this place, was last Wednesday married to Miss Rose Castle at the home of her father, Wm. Castle, in the upper part of the county. Very few guests were present.

Rev. J. S. Cox pronounced the ceremony at noon, and the happy couple came down on the afternoon train. They went at once to their home, which the groom had previously furnished.

The bride is a handsome young lady of modest demeanor, and will prove a valuable helpmeet to her husband. She is sister of Mrs. D. C. Spencer.

The groom is a worthy young man of high character and good business ability, and is well fitted for his industry and close attention to business. He has been the trusted employee of Mr. D. C. Spencer for several years. The News wishes the young couple all the joy and success which they may hope for.

Got There at Last.

The Court of Appeals last week passed upon a case which was petalled to that of Peter Hille and Frank Jones, of this place, and the decision settled the matter in Hille's favor. Consequently he has quailed as magistrate and Jones has stepped out. The latter was appointed more than a year ago to fill a vacancy caused by the death of S. H. Justice, and last November Hille was elected to succeed Jones, who refused to surrender the place upon the grounds that there had been no occasion for an election.

"Don't count on anything on account of your 'incurable' blood disease," the sensible thing for you to do is to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. If that fails, why, then—keep on trying, and a cure will follow. The trouble is, people get discouraged too soon. Try, try again."
